Summary

Sad ending (?) for Ariel and Cthulhu. Ariel and her sisters are over 18. Suitable for both animated and live-action films. I am Ariel. My sisters and I live in R'lyeh with our dear master Cthulhu. We are eternally human, for we are his sex toys and then it all collapsed.

- A translation of Tout tomba à néant by MiaQc

I am Ariel. My sisters and I live in R'lyeh with our dear master Cthulhu. We are eternally human, for we are his sex toys. We loved when he made us cum, when his cock or his tentacles entered our pussies, when his hands played with our nipples... then it all collapsed.

The day Father, King Triton came to "save us." Using all the power of his trident, he sealed our Master with his daughter Cthylla, causing R'lyeh to "disappear," to change location. We find ourselves without him.

We're angry with Father, but he keeps telling us the same thing. That we've been bewitched by Cthulhu and that he'll find a way to make us see the light. Father also says he must find a way to recharge his trident to restore us to our mermaid form. Despite Cthulhu's sealing, we can breathe underwater as humans. Triton is crazy. My sisters and I agree. We must find our Master again!

It was a failure. Triton had us locked up in the palace dungeon. We'll stay there until we "go back to the way we were." I don't want to go back to how I was! I want my Cthulhu. I want to see Cthylla again.

My sisters and I awaken from what seems like a nightmare. How long have we been in the clutches of this monster? Father refuses to tell us. We're mermaids again. I feel... dirty. Disgusting. Father says time will fix everything. I don't believe him.
